

FOR FAMILIES WITH MONEY IN THE ACCOUNT

TEFA WON'T PAY A TUTOR WITHOUT A TEACHING CERTIFICATE.

611 tutoring vendors are on the state's list and 214 of them work online, anywhere in Texas. The rule most families learn after the first session: the tutor has to hold an active teaching certificate, or TEFA won't pay.

THE RULE, IN ODYSSEY'S WORDS

"Fees for a private tutor or teaching service; the tutor must have an active teaching certificate to participate."

A vendor can be on the state's list and still assign you an uncertified tutor. The vendor is approved; the person still has to be certified.

HOW TO CHECK IN TWO MINUTES

- Ask the vendor for the tutor's full name as it appears on their certificate.
- Look it up on TEA's public educator certificate search (tea.texas.gov, "certificate lookup"). Active means active; expired or "inactive" does not count.
- Keep a screenshot with the date. If a payment is ever questioned, that is your record.

Already selling to TEFA families

Tutero says on its site that online tutoring is "fully covered by your TEFA" and that its tutors are certified teachers. The Athletic Collegiate sells sports-training memberships to TEFA families under the tutoring category. Both are on the state's list; both still get the certificate question.

WHO'S ON THE LIST, BY SUBJECT

A vendor can carry several tags, so the column sums above 611.

FOUR QUESTIONS BEFORE THE FIRST SESSION

- Who exactly will tutor my child, and are they certified in Texas?
- Is tutoring the approved product on Odyssey, or only some of what you sell?
- What's the rate, and how are sessions billed through Odyssey?
- Online or in person, and does that change the rate?
